

LIVELY FIGHT

IS PROMISED IN HOUSE

Over The Frankfort Normal School Bill.

OPPONENTS THREATEN TO CURTAIL CAPITOL APPROPRIATION IF PUSHED.

DOG LAW IS AMENDED.

Frankfort is to have a normal school on the same footing with the other normal schools which have been established, if the bill which passed the Senate this week can get through the House. The bill provides for the use of the present Capitol buildings and establishes a law department which is to be an adjunct to Kentucky University. The present Capitol and the grounds are dedicated to the normal school, and $10,000 a year set aside to maintain the school. Twenty-five thousand dollars is appropriated for the repair of the present buildings so that they can be put in good condition before the school is opened.

Frankfort would be greatly benefited by the establishment of the normal school here, and it would mean a large increase in the floating population, with a corresponding increase in the amount of money which is distributed to the merchants of the city. The State would have to spend only $10,000 a year to maintain the school, and there would be not less than a thousand teachers in attendance during the school session every year. It would also insure that the historic old state house should be maintained in its present shape and always stand as a memorial to Kentucky's past history. So many things have happened in that old building that have gone to make history that the people of the whole State are interested in having it remain as it is.

Dr. E. E. Hume, Mayor of Frankfort, has been untiring in his efforts to have the normal school established here, and has been working with the members of the Legislature to get through the bill which establishes the school here. He has succeeded now in getting the bill through the Senate and believes that he will have no trouble passing the bill in the House. The people of Frankfort and the Business Men's Club have also been at work and the result of their labors is apparent in the way the bill went through the Senate.

Kentucky has two normal schools, one at Richmond and the other at Bowling Green, and the State has appropriated $300,000 for these two schools. If another school is established it would mean that Kentucky would take the lead in educational matters, and would stand on the side of education of the school teachers and through them the school children of the State.

Enemies of the measure are saying that if this bill is pushed too vigorously they will vote to curtail the Capitol appropriation bill, but this is not disturbing the friends of the bill, and they are determined to make a hard fight for it in the House. They say that the Capitol appropriation bill is in no danger, and that it is only a bluff. A lively fight is promised in the House.

DOG LAW CAUSES STIR.

Party Lines are Drawn in Fight Over Much-Discussed Measure.

After two afternoons of hot debate, during which "Windy Bill" Thompson shone and made the star speech, the much abused and much discussed dog tax law was amended by the House on Wednesday so that each property owner in the State shall be entitled to one dog, without the payment of any tax, and only 50 cents shall be paid on each dog, over four months of age. The dog law took up all of one afternoon, and strange to say, party lines were drawn in the fight, the Republicans being for the repeal of the present law, while most of the Democrats voted either for the present law was fine, promise law repe-

The day and more the Senate lation, in tives, and people w than the United States members m effort to move was shouted taken up first on the afternoon, and the substitute was voted down leaving the original bill, repealing the present law, and were success as they kept things going until hour of adjournment arrived.

On Wednesday afternoon the bill was resumed and by reconsidering every motion which had prevailed the day before, the slate was wiped clean and everything left just as it had been when the fight first opened on the day before. The whole thing was threshed out again and finally it was put to a vote. The substitute, offered by the committee, was finally passed by a large majority. The dog law will be effective. The Governor bills which were introduced at various times, the first bill introduced being one to repeal the dog tax law. This was offered by Senator G. A. Taylor.

It is believed that the Senate will concur in the substitute which the House passed and that the new dog law will be effective. The Governor has recommended a change and probably would sign such a bill as has been passed by the House. The Senate is rather inclined to be in favor of the present dog law but would accept the substitute.

MISS LILLARD

CHOSEN CARNIVAL QUEEN

CHARMING DAUGHTER OF BOYLE COUNTY'S REPRESENTATIVE NAMED BY COLLEGE BOYS.

Miss Mayme Lillard, the popular and attractive daughter of Col. E. W. Lillard, Boyle county's Representative in the State Legislature, was selected by the Athletic Association of Central University at Danville as queen of the coming May carnival. The carnival is the great event in the whole year's calendar in society and to be chosen queen is, according to the views of the younger set, the greatest honor that can be accorded one of their number.

The vote was unanimous for Miss Lillard, which attests her popularity. Only the varsity men are eligible to vote in this contest and it is even counted an honor to have a vote in this contest. Miss Lillard is tall and strikingly handsome blonde and is admirably endowed with every requisite to fill such a station. She has visited Frankfort and in quite a number of Central Kentucky towns and is both widely and favorably known in social circles in all this section of the State.

Each year a carnival is held on the campus by the students, ending with an open athletic meet in which all may compete. To the winner of the largest number of points in the meet is given the title of "King of the Carnival," who is presented to the "Queen" upon the last night of the carnival, which is the crowning social event of the year.

The King will win his title only by athletic prowess, but the Queen is chosen by vote of the "C" men, or those who have won the right to wear their college "C" by the accomplishment of some noteworthy achievement in athletics.

FALSE ALARM.

An alarm of fire from box No. 12, located at Second and Bridge streets, at half-past nine o'clock last night, called the fire department to the residence of Mr. Lee Buckley on Second street and Taylor Avenue, which upon their arrival they found to be a false alarm.

Mr. Salem Kennedy who for several years past has been connected with the local office of the Ford and Johnson Co. leaves Monday morning for Chicago, where he has been transferred to the general offices of the company.

BANQUET

IN HONOR OF GOV. BECKHAM

TELLS WHY HE WAS DEFEATED FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR.

In the presence of four hundred people, who packed the dining room of the Capital Hotel until it could hold no more, former Governor Beckham Thursday night reviewed the recent contest for the United States Senatorship, and made public for the first time his views of his defeat.

At times during his address the applause lasted for several minutes. He wound up his address by the declaration that, while always ready to serve his party whenever possible, he would never again ask the people of Kentucky for office.

The banquet was given by the Young Men's Democratic Club of Franklin county in honor of Gov. Beckham and the Democratic members of the General Assembly who supported him during the recent senatorial race.

The club gathered at its rooms, on St. Clair street, shortly after 8 o'clock Thursday night, and with about 100 members, headed by the Second Regiment Band, marched to Mr. Beckham's home. Yelling and applauding, they greeted him in front of his house, and he was surrounded by a crowd of his friends as he entered the carriage in which he led the procession to the hotel.

At the Capital Hotel everything was in readiness. The dining room had been handsomely decorated in flags and bunting and presented an attractive appearance. The tables were arranged in four long rows, the full length of the big room, with the speakers' table near the door. This was covered with flowers and a large vase of flowers occupied the center. On the rear wall was a large picture of Mr. Beckham in a circle of electric lights. Streamers hung from the ceiling over the tables, and National flags were everywhere.

At each plate was a menu card with a good picture of Mr. Beckham on the front. The card stated that the banquet was given in honor of Mr. Beckham and the loyal members of the General Assembly. With the band playing "My Old Kentucky Home," the grand march into the dining room was ushered in at 9 o'clock. Mr. Beckham and Mr. W. C. Marshall, the president of the club, walked in front.

Following them were the members of the Legislature and the special guests. Then came the members of the club. Covers were laid for about 400, and an elegant and very substantial supper was served. This occupied nearly two hours, the band furnishing music most of the time.

The speeches began immediately after the banquet. A large number of ladies, wives of the members, were allowed to go into the dining room and listen to the speeches, and fully a hundred, all handsomely dressed, took advantage of the opportunity to hear the eloquence which was poured forth. The big room was packed to overflowing, the ladies having only standing room on the outskirts of the banquet tables. By the express request of the ladies, no man was allowed to give up his seat, or the women would have been the ones around the tables. The speeches lasted until after 1 o'clock, Mr. Beckham making the closing ad-

HARGIS

GRANTED A CONTINUANCE

ON ACCOUNT OF ILLNESS OF HIS ATTORNEYS NO APPLICATION
MADE FOR BAIL.

After repeated and persistent efforts to prevent a trial of their client at this term, the attorneys for Beech Hargis succeeded Wednesday in securing a continuance of his case at Jackson.

When the case was called Wednesday morning and the defendant brought into court Attorney D. B. Redwine handed him an affidavit which his counsel had drawn during the night.

He sat down beside his mother and read the affidavit. A faint smile appeared to light up his face while reading it.

He stepped to the clerk's desk, signed and swore to the document and Attorney J. J. Bach asked leave to file it together with his own affidavit in support of another motion for a continuance.

The motion for continuance was argued by Judge D. B. Redwine, for the defense, and Hon A. Floyd Byrd, for the prosecution.

The affidavit of the defendant stated that his uncle, Floyd Day, had gone to attend court at Hazard and that he could not safely go into trial without the presence of Mr. Day, upon whom he relied for assistance in presenting his defense and that Mr. Day left under the impression that the case would not be reached at this term.

Mr. Bach's affidavit stated that he (Bach) was physically unable to go through the trial; that he had been under treatment of a physician for some time and the labor incident to the John Abner trial, in which he has been engaged for the past six days, had so exhausted his strength as to render him too weak physically to undergo the strain of another trial.

In arguing the motion for defendant, Judge Redwine declared that he himself was sick and not really well enough to be in court. He contended that the absence of Mr. Day and the sickness of both the defendant's attorneys made it impossible for a trial at this term.

Mr. Byrd, replying, said: "I read an account of a trial recently held in Kentucky in which all of the attorneys suddenly became ill. Lawyers are liable to take sick, and I don't say that these gentlemen are not too sick to go through this trial."

"They have been here during this term of court and have been trying to continue this case on one pretext or another every time the case has been called."

"They are robust-looking gentlemen, but, of course, appearances are sometimes deceptive. Their sudden illness is opportune for the defendant at this term, especially as the repeated motions of the defendant for continuance have been overruled. It is a matter for the court to pass on."

Judge Adams delivered an opinion granting the continuance. He said the affidavit of Mr. Bach that he was sick and had to ride to the court house this morning, taken in consideration with the court's personal knowledge that Mr. Bach has not been well for a number of months, furnished grounds to render a continuance proper.

The case was set for trial on the seventh day of the May term. The May court convenes on the fourth Monday in May, and the seventh day of the term will be June 1.

so far it is not known as to whether or not the defense will make application for bail at this term of court.

GOVERNMENT

TO ESTABLISH FISH HATCHERY

AT LOCK NO. 7—ABOVE FRANKFORT—WHICH HAS NATURAL ADVANTAGES.

Information has been received here that the United States Fish Commission is seriously considering establishing a hatchery at Lock No. 7 on the Kentucky river above Frankfort for the purpose of propagating black bass and other game fish which are known to thrive so well in the waters of the river. "Mr. U. B. Keenon, assistant cashier of the deposit bank of this city, who is much interested in the project, and has done much good work in bringing to the attention of the Government officials the splendid facilities presented at Lock 7 for a fish hatchery, has been assured that the matter will be given careful consideration by the department, and will probably be favorably acted upon. Local fishermen and all those interested in the finny tribe will do everything they can to push the work along.

The particular attraction of the place which the location of the hatchery is presents for the hatchery is a spring which gushes out from a hillside in a clear and pure stream some three or four inches and which is perpetual. It finds its exit in a cave which goes back into the cliff, forming a recess or harbor, which has been formed into an ideal harbor for fish. The spring and all on the Government

FRUIT CROP

Growers Fear False Heavy Frosts V. Sure to Follow

Unless there is a change in the weather irreparable damage will be done to the fruit crop in Kentucky. Fruit growers should exercise care to their fruit trees. Weather past few days has caused tree bud and flower damage. If the weather continues to be so bad, trees will be damaged.

Men practiced in horticulture who have experienced weather of this sort declare that trees should be wrapped—or "sacked," as a veteran fruit dealer expressed it—to protect them from the frost that is sure to come. Weather like this, the veteran says, can not continue very long, but if it lasts a few days it will be sufficient to advance the blooms and blossoms. Then a frost, be it ever so light, will kill them and thus destroy the fruit crop this spring.

The Weather Bureau is able to hold out little comfort to the fruit growers. Until recently it was the duty of the Weather Department to ascertain the condition of horticultural and agricultural products and to warn growers of the danger resulting from the weather. This has been taken out of the hands of the Weather Bureau now, however, and what work the forecasters do in this direction is for their individual study and benefit. The work is in the hands of the Department of Agriculture. This department sends out warning bulletins at various times in the year, and it is presumed that warning will be sent to the fruit growers of the West and North.

Already the trees are budding and flowers blooming. One big fruit grower said that scores of his trees have buds on them, but as he has them well protected he is not very apprehensive. "It is the careless fruit grower who will suffer," said the veteran. "The grower who will take an interest and watch his trees, especially in the climate where we expect changeable weather at all seasons of the year, will not suffer much from a freeze. Of course, he will suffer some loss, it matters not how careful he may be, but if he will he can protect himself against severe loss. In the South things are different, for the weather there is expected to be on its good behavior all of the time. When there is a decided change the fruit dealers, especially the orange growers, suffer heavily. Here things are different and no one should suffer any great loss."

MRS. HOCKENSMITH.

Greatly Beloved Woman dies, at the Home of her Daughter, Mrs. Geo. M. Brock.

Mrs. Sallie Ann Hockensmith widow of the late David Hockensmith, died at an early hour Wednesday morning of the infirmities of age at "Crescent View" the country residence of her daughter, Mrs. Geo. M. Brock.

Mrs. Hockensmith was eighty three years of age and was born and reared near Peaks Mill in this county. She was a member of the Christian church in which she was at all times an active church and charity worker, and one of the most useful and universally beloved woman of the county, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Chas. Snelling and Mrs. Geo. M. Brock, of this county. The funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock from the home of Mrs. Brock, and were conducted by Rev. J. Polk South. The interment took place in the State cemetery. The pall bearers were: Messrs. A. G. Jeffers, Zack Church, John Suter, H. D. Benedict, Albert and Jno. B. Hockensmith.

STRONG CHARGE.

Given to Anderson County Grand Jury by Circuit Judge Marshall.

The March term of the Anderson Circuit Court opened at Lawrenceburg Monday morning at 10 o'clock, with Judge Charles G. Marshall, of Shively, on the bench. Judge Marshall gave one of the most exhaustive, clear and forceful charges to the grand jury ever heard in Anderson county. He dwelt at length on arson, banding together of armed bodies and night riding. He said that the most effective way of breaking up this reign of terror was for the grand juries to indict promptly everyone implicated in it.

There have been few "Watch Dogs" of the Treasury in the present General Assembly, and the impression has generally prevailed that the 1908 Legislature was very prodigal with the State's money.

Those who keep an eye on the financial condition of the State say that every department that wanted an increased appropriation experienced very little difficulty in getting what it wanted, and while very few were shaved none were reduced from the present figures.

It is not generally known but Gov. Wilson has the Legislature completely at his mercy regarding the approval of measures enacted by it, as there are only three bills that he will have to return to the body before next Tuesday, when the General Assembly expires by limitation.

Among these are the Sullivan $500,000 Educational and the Lillard-Bosworth Pure Food measures. On all the rest of the legislation passed by the two houses and sent to the Governor within nine days before the adjournment, the Executive may exercise his prerogative of holding for ten days, which will extend the time until after March 17, which will be "Getaway Day."

NOTES

CONCERNING KENTUCKIANS

FROM MRS. AYRES WEEKLY LETTER FROM WASHINGTON TO THE COURIER-JOURNAL.

Mrs. Ayres in her recent letter to the Courier-Journal has the following notes which will be of interest in Frankfort.

Admired Kentuckians.

The wife and daughters of the Hon. Ben Johnson, of Bardstown, are among the much admired Southern women of Washington this season. They have been honor guests at a number of important social affairs. The mother and daughters, all three, are possessed of a piquant type of blonde beauty and cordial, engaging manners.

Misses Rebecca and Nancy Johnson have attended a number of balls and fraternity dances given by the younger set in Washington this winter. The Tuesday afternoons of Mrs. Johnson and her daughters at the Hotel Cochran have been especially heartily attended by officials and residential society.

Attention For The Rodmans.

Few visitors to Washington this winter have received so much pleasant social attention as those two attractive Louisville sisters, Miss Susie Rodman and Mrs. Canada Rodman, who have been staying on Connecticut avenue. The ladies enjoyed a constant round of gaiety. They were present at all four of the presidential levees. They were especially feted by the army and navy contingent of Washington society. Just before their departure for Louisville Miss Rodman and Mrs. Rodman received with Mrs. Edward Sanford at The Burlington, the attractive wife of the Assistant Attorney General.

Notes of Kentuckians.

Many Kentuckians were present at a smart tea given this week by the Cultus Club, one of the exclusive literary organizations of the Capital.

Mrs. Conrad H. Syme, once of Hagerstown, a former president of the club, was one of the hostesses of the occasion. She wore a pretty gown of white lace with touches of turquoise velvet. Mrs. C. K. Berryman was also in the receiving line.

Miss Nannie Barbee, of Danville, who has been giving a series of negro dialect recitals in Washington, has recently been entertained by the Acorn Club of Philadelphia, where her stories made a big hit. After a sojourn in New York City, Miss Barbee will go to Florida to spend the early spring as the guest of friends.

Mrs. Ollie James served frappe at a recent tea at the Cairo, given by Mrs. Hardy, of Texas. Mrs. James looked particularly handsome in a toilette of rose-pink messaline and white lace, with huge black velvet hat loaded with ostrich plumes. The Princess Cupid of Hawaii was among the guests in gorgous attire.

A BEAUTIFUL LUNCHEON.

Miss Caroline Steele, of Woodford county, entertained last Thursday with a beautiful luncheon in honor of her guests, Misses Artemisia Barrow and Nellie Rodes, of Lexington. The handsome Steele home was most tastefully decorated in yellow colors, the scheme being carried out in the dining room and the menu. Covers were laid for eight and the present list included Misses Barrow and Rodes, of Lexington; Mesdames Dyke Hazelrigg and Tom Geary, of Frankfort; Mary Belle Edwards and Marie Louise Powell, of Versailles; Leonora Winn, of Midway, and the fair hostess.

APPEAL

FOR FINANCIAL AID

KENTUCKY FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS CIRCULATING A PETITION.

Miss Rebecca G. Averill, President of the Woman's Club, of Frankfort, is circulating a petition among the citizens of Frankfort urging them to give financial assistance to the movement for educational advancement in the State. The appeal was promulgated by the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, and is as follows:

Do you know that in Kentucky nearly 50 per cent. of the children of school age and 22 per cent. of the white children between the age of ten and fourteen are not in school?

Do you know that Kentucky is giving to her children an average of ninety days of schooling a year while the majority of other States are giving to their children an average of 150 days?

Do you know that each pupil enrolled in Kentucky attends school an average of fifty-five days a year, while each pupil enrolled in Indiana attends an average of 104 days?

Do you know that thousands of the school houses of Kentucky are not much more than wretched hovels, the barns all over the State putting them to shame?

Do you know that in Kentucky illiteracy among the colored people is decreasing much faster than among the white people?

Do you know that we are even falling behind several of our sister Southern States in the education of our white children?

Have you been watching the marvelous progress made by the Southern States in education and have you seen how much of it has been due to the untiring zeal of their women?

Are not the women of Kentucky able to do just as much? Will you not join us in the effort and take as your watchword "A good school for every child in the State for at least eight months in the year?"

The Federation of Women's Clubs of Kentucky is planning some campaign work.

We wish to send educational pamphlets and circulars broadcast among the people.

We wish to give specific aid to certain little country schools in need of help.

Will you not help us in the work? Help to organize leagues, help to arouse interest and shape public opinion, and, if you can, will you not contribute to the financial support of the movement by sending us one dollar. More, if you can, or less?

Will you not help to make this the most monumental work ever undertaken by our women?

Its success will mean "opportunity for the children."

We are counting on your support.

Respectfully Yours,

REBECCA G. AVERILL.

ASSIGNMENTS

For Kentuckians Who Recently Graduated at West Point Military Academy.

The many friends in Frankfort of Messrs. Simon Boliver Buckner, Jr., Virgil L. Peterson and Thos. J. Johnson, will be much interested in the following note from Washington.

The Kentucky graduates of this year's class of West Point, whose names have been sent to the Senate as Second Lieutenants, have been assigned to service as follows:

Virgil Lee Peterson, of Henderson county, to the Corps of Engineers.

Richard Donovan, of McCracken county, and Edward Nicoll Woodbury, of Bell county, to the Coast Artillery Corps.

Simon Boliver Buckner, Jr., of Hart county, and Thomas Jefferson Johnson of Henderson county, to the infantry.

Lieutenants Buckner, Peterson and Johnson spent a week here during January as the guests of Miss Mary Belle Taylor at her country home "Thistleton" and during their stay here were recipients of much social attention.

The First District Republican Convention split shortly after the delegates met at Paducah, the Taft men bolting and holding a separate convention at the same time the Fairbanks men were electing delegates to the National Convention in the same room. The split was caused by the refusal of W. J. Deboe who called the convention to order, to recognize the credentials of the Taft delegates from Graves county. The contest will be carried to the National Convention.

Gov. Swanson, of West Virginia, has granted respite to March 27, in the case of Leo C. Thurman, the Kentucky boy under sentence to be hanged yesterday. The Supreme Court has refused Thurman a rehearing.

STATE ASYLUMS

UNDER BI-PARTISAN BOARD

BURNHAM BILL TO DIVORCE INSTITUTIONS FROM POLITICS PASSES STATE SENATE.

The first step taken in Kentucky to divorce the State institutions from politics came when the Senate passed the Burnam Bill, Wednesday, providing for a bipartisan board of four members to have charge of the three insane asylums and Institute for the Feeble-minded. Under the operations of the bill Gov. Willson will appoint a Republican member on the present State Board of Control of Charitable Institutions, which will make it stand politically two Democrats and two Republicans. The new appointee's term will expire in 1911, which will make a term of one of the members expire every year. The present members of the board and the years their terms will expire are: M. H. Board, Democrat, 1909; Percy Haly, Democrat, 1910; Col. Albert Scott, Republican, 1912.

Senator Burnam, the author of the bill, also introduced a measure placing the management of the State prisons under bipartisan control, but was obliged to content himself with getting one of the measures through. Even Democratic Senators declared that they welcomed a nonpartisan conduct of the State eleemosynary institutions and believed that it was an excellent measure. It was pointed out that the best results could only be secured in their management where the officials are absolutely free from the contaminating influence of party politics and the employees not made subservient to political bosses. The experiment will be watched with great interest by the people of the state, and, if successful, there is hardly a question but that the other State institutions will be placed under similar management.

For Fastest Time on Mississippi River Still Held by Steamer R. E. Lee.

It is not generally known that in the fastest time ever made between New Orleans and Natchez and Memphis and Cairo, by the R. E. Lee, there were only thirteen seconds difference in the two runs, which were made on different trips as follows: New Orleans to Natchez in fall of 1870, 16 hours 36 minutes 47 seconds. Memphis to Cairo in spring of 1867 16 hours and 37 minutes. Steamboatmen used to call it from New Orleans to Natchez 300 miles, and from Memphis to Cairo 250 miles. Measured miles as furnished by the United States Engineer Corps at Vicksburg, New Orleans to Natchez 257 miles, Memphis to Cairo 230 miles, showing the distance to Natchez was twenty seven miles more than from Memphis to Cairo. While the distance was twenty seven miles greater to Natchez the current was not so strong as from Memphis to Cairo. The latter run was made on a regular business trip when the Lee was making two-week trips from New Orleans to Louisville, but she never made a stop on the run. On the run to Natchez she was stripped for the race, and it was when she and the Natchez were running against time, but not together. The time made by the Lee to Natchez and Memphis to Cairo stands to-day as the best on record.

FRANKFORT, MARCH 14, 1908

FRANKFORT NORMAL SCHOOL BILL.

The Enemies of the Dowling Bill, which provides for a normal school in Frankfort, with a law department as an adjunct, are threatening to attack the Capitol Appropriation Bill if the Frankfort people insist on passing the Dowling Bill in the House. This is so puerile, as well as so absurd, that the advocates of the bill should pay no attention to it. Such a threat might frighten some of our children, but no one who has given the matter any thought will believe for a moment that the Legislature would fail to make proper provision for the handsome structure that will prove the foundation stone of a new era in Kentucky. The Capitol Appropriation Bill is in little danger and the Dowling Bill should be just as safe. Should this bill become a law, the State will have one of the best institutions of the kind in the South. The old capitol buildings are well suited for such an institution. They are fire-proof and spacious, as well as being advantageously located.

It ill-becomes the citizens of Richmond and Bowling Green to make an attempt to defeat the measure because it creates a rival institution. If Kentucky had more rival educational institutions her progress in that direction would be greater. Eight hundred school teachers in the State are vitally interested in this bill, besides the thousands of children who would be benefitted by it. The bill is one of the best measures that has been presented to the present General Assembly, and it should pass in the House without a dissenting vote.

In this connection it is but proper that we say a word about the efforts of Dr. E. E. Hume to secure the passage of the bill. Dr. Hume caused the bill to be introduced and, since, he has worked unceasingly to put it through. He deserves much credit, and if the bill becomes a law he will have accomplished a great deal for Kentucky as well as for Frankfort.

Mr. A. D. Howard, Sunday Editor of the New York Tribune, writes us the following letter:

"A story is going the rounds of the newspapers that the Oklahoma Legislature is greatly addicted to the eating of popcorn.

"We know that the Connecticut Legislators eat large quantities of apples while in session.

"Please send right away by mail a paragraph or two relating in a crisp way any prominent fad or foible which the Legislature of your State indulges in."

The Kentucky Legislature is singularly distinguished for the accuracy with which its members can throw paper wads. The last day of the session is usually a signal for a "battle royal," and wads are kept flying through the air as thick as hail stones. Senator Charlton seemed to be the sole object of attack last year, and the other members kept him busy dodging until he put a period to the game by hurling a chair or two. This year the Louisville Senator will have company.

The press of the State owes a vote of thanks to Lew B. Brown, of Harrodsburg, President of the Kentucky Press Association, for his untiring work during the present session of the Legislature.

The Council should pass an ordinance prohibiting the sale of live-stock on the streets. The establishment of a stock yard would solve the problem.

The legislators have about completed their task. If half of the laws enacted are enforced we will have something to be thankful for.

LOUISVILLE

TOBACCO

MA

Total sales in the Louisville last week were 4,889 hds., 3,821 hds. sold in correspond of last year. Total receipts were 4,946 hds., against 4,946 hds. on corresponding week. Rejections last week were 11 per cent. of the auction, 10 per cent. for the week. Of the total sales were Burley and 1,272 hds. tobacco.

The offerings on the market this week were as follows: 339 hds. Burley and 1,141 hds. Wednesday, 113 hds. Dark; Thursday and 104 hds. There has been very little change from the previous prevailing week. On Monday it was thought that the market of the Burley market was uneasy, and some irregular bidding was apparent. Thursday, however, it seemed to steady up and closed fully at last week's range. Of the red Burley the medium grades continue most in favor with buyers, and sells higher relatively than any other grades. The good and fine leaf is about all taken by the American Tobacco Co. without competition. About the only grades of red Burley, upon which competition can be called active are the medium grades, selling from $12 to $15. The very common lugs and trash are selling relatively high, but are hardly as high as they were some weeks ago. Bright color kinds are strong and high for all grades. Even the very trashy flyings, if specially bright, seem to be wanted by everybody and usually sell above owner's valuations.

Dark tobacco has hardly been so snappy and active this week. The strong tone which has been maintained for Dark tobacco for several weeks, both fired and unfired, seems to have eased off slightly this week.

Leaf tobacco offerings on the Louisville breaks were only moderate volume. The quality was poor, odds and was not quite as snappy as heretofore, but was not quotably lower.

At the Home Warehouse 30 hogsheads of new Burley were disposed of at prices ranging between $8 and $15. The market was unchanged being very satisfactory to seller.

The State Warehouse offered 75 hogsheads of new Burley, which brought from $8.20 to $14.75, and 2 hogsheads of new dark, which brought $6.10 and $7.40. The market was unchanged and there were no rejections.

The Farmers' Warehouse had up 96 hogsheads of new burley, which brought from $8.10 to $16.25. The market was unchanged and there were 7 rejections.

At the Main-street Warehouse 19 hogsheads of new burley brought from $9.80 to $14.50. The market was not as good as yesterday and there was one rejection.

The Kentucky Warehouse offered 124 hogsheads of new burley, which brought from $7.90 to $15.75, and 20 hogsheads of new dark brought from $6.80 to $11.75. The market was unchanged and there were 6 rejections.

The Pickett Warehouse had up 61 hogsheads of new burley, which brought from $7.90 to $14.75, and 60 hogsheads of new dark brought from $5.50 to $10.75. The market was very satisfactory and there were only 4 rejections.

PREMIUMS

At the State Fair to be Larger This Year Than Ever Before.

With snow still in the air and fully six months before the date of the next State Fair, things are already looking up in that line, and it is evident that the interest to be taken this year will excel that of any previous year in the history of the fair.

Even at this early date Mr. L. B. Shropshire, of Louisville, the assistant secretary of the fair, is hustling for premiums, and so far his efforts have met with great success. Several Shropshire, of Louisville, the assistant officials of the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association, of Chicago, that the annual appropriation of $500 for the best herds of shorthorn cattle would be given this year as formerly, and yesterday he received information to the effect that the appropriation of the American Hereford Cattle Association, of Kansas City, Mo., would be increased this year from $300 to $500. Heretofore the appropriation of this association has been $200 until last year, when the amount was increased to $300, which is the highest amount ever given to any of the State fairs of the country, and the extraordinary increase to $500 this year is exceedingly gratifying to the officials of the State Fair.

This increase in the appropriation of the American Hereford Cattle Association is due chiefly to the activity of Mr. F. C. Gilmer, of Eminence, the Kentucky representative of the association, who co-operated with Mr. Shropshire in an effort to have the association make the special appropriation.

LEGISLATURE

Now Has Pair of Brothers in the Two Shanks and the Two Berkshires.

One more Democrat was added to the House Tuesday morning when Representative Shanklin, of Mason county, was sworn in. He reached Frankfort Monday night from Mayfield and is with his brother, who is the member from Fleming county. With the advent of the new Mr. Shanklin, the Democrats have fifty-one members of the House. In the House there are now two pairs of brothers, something that never happened before in the history of the Kentucky General Assembly. J. W. Berkshire and P. W. Berkshire are brothers and sit together. Neither knew that the other was a candidate until after the election. P. W. Berkshire represents the Second District in Davies county, and his brother represents Boone county. Now the two Shanks come in. They are on opposite sides of the political question, one being a Democrat and the other a Republican. The Berkshires are both Democrats.

PRINTING BILL

Passed Senate Monday With But One Dissenting Vote.

Senator Albert H. Charlton, of Louisville, is very proud over the passage of his State Printing Bill through the Senate with only one dissenting vote. The bill was the outgrowth of many meetings of the State Printing Commission appointed at the last session of the Legislature to submit a new law governing the State Printing at this session. As Senator Charlton said on the floor of the Senate, the bill provides for everything from a pen wiper to the most costly book, days ago he received word from the and will save the State in the neighbor goes into every detail and abounds in technical terms peculiar to the art presentative. Senator Charlton, who is a practical printer, brought to the task of preparing the bill a knowledge that was of vast benefit to the commission that framed the measure.

REVENUE AGENT.

Files Suit in State Fiscal Court Against Louisville Water Company.

Attorney Arthur C. Hopkins, of Louisville, State Revenue Agent, Monday filed suit in the Fiscal Court here against the Louisville Water Company, seeking to collect $29,050 in fines for non-payment of taxes from August 1, 1906, to March 7, 1908. The action is brought under the revenue act of 1906, which provides a fine of $50 per day for each day that the assessment on the franchise tax remains unpaid. Mr. Hopkins figures that the water company has been delinquent for 561 days. His fees out of the $29,050 fines would be $5,810.

Perry Belmont said in Washington that New York would certainly go Democratic this fall and that the party will elect the next President.

Fayette county farmers who expect to raise tobacco this year will begin to sow plant beds this week and it will soon be known whether they will be prevented by violence.

CLARENCE PACE,

For Years Chief Clerk at the Willard Hotel, Accepts Traveling Position.

The many friends of Clarence Pace in Frankfort, will be interested in the following items from Thursday's Louisville Times.

Clarence Pace, chief clerk at the Willard Hotel, is finishing his last day in the hotel business. Mr. Pace, who has been with the Willard for many years, and who was formerly at the Louisville Hotel, is one of the best and most favorably known hotel clerks in Kentucky. He has resigned to become a traveling salesman for the Pioneer Hat Company and will cover Tennessee and Georgia in the interest of that firm.

A meeting was held in Lexington Monday by a number of the owners of jacks in the Bluegrass region and preliminary steps were taken to form an organization. Another meeting will be held this morning at Lexington at which a permanent organization will be formed. Among those who attended the meeting Monday were: S. D. Burbridge, of Bourbon county; A. L. Edwards, of Woodford county; Joe Phelps, W. A. Moore, T. B. Adams, W. E. Stillwell, J. B. Smith and S. C. Nunnelly, of Franklin county.

Fifty night riders burned two warehouses containing 20,000 pounds of tobacco at New Liberty, Owen county, Wednesday night, shot the glass out of a store and fired into several residences, one being that of an aged woman who died a few hours later. Judge Cammack has ordered that a special grand jury be summoned at once to inquire into the outrage. to inquire into the outrage.

Have yo... what they a...
'Bout... South agoin' dry—
All the mint beds raisin' celery—
All the aigs used up fer pie?
With the punch-bowls full o' jonquils,
An' a hyacinth or two
Stickin' in the toddy glasses
On the parlor table? Shoo!

But they say it sho' is comin',
Bringin' sunshine ter the land,
(Don't say much about the moonshine,
Fer as I kin understand),
An' thar won't be no mo' shootin'
An' acuttin' like there were,
An' atotin' home on shutters—
Nothin' tall to cause a stir.

Yes, old Liquor's at the bottom
Of our trouble, so they say;
When it's gone they will skeedaddle,
Same as lightnin' bugs at day.
Ef we'll just quit drinkin' coffee
Now, and go ter chawin' wax,
There'll be purty little winglets
Growin' out upon our backs.

An' the Politician's business

When you are satisfied with mediocrity.

When commonness doesn't trouble you.

When you do not feel troubled by a poor day's work, or when a slighted job does not haunt you as it once did.

When you are satisfied to do a thing "just for now," expecting to do better later.

When you can work untroubled in the midst of confused, systemless surroundings which you might remedy.

When you can listen without a protest to indecent stories.

When your ambition begins to cool, and you no longer demand the same standard of excellence that you once did.

When you do not make a confidante of your mother, as you once did, or are ill at ease with her.

When you begin to think your father is an old fogey.

When you begin to associate with people whom you would not think of taking to your home, and whom you would not want the members of your family to know that you know.—Success.

ONCE-A-YEAR PAPERS.

Newspaper men ought to have easy times of it in the polar circle, where the papers are issued only once a year. There are three or four of these. One of them is the Eskimo Bulletin, edited near Cape Prince of Wales, on Bering Straits.

The paper is very thick, and it is printed only on one side. The Bulletin claims to be the only once-a-year paper printed, but this is an error. At Gothaab, Greenland, there is another issued from a small printing-office, which was established in 1862. The name of this sheet is Atnagdumik, which is supposed to read "Something for reading; accounts of all sorts of entertaining subjects." The language is that of Greenland, a dialect of the Eskimo.

There is still another paper published in Greenland called Kaladlit.—The Editor and Publisher.

PUZZLE.

A certain two men possessed each of exactly $10,000.

One buys a modest house for $4,000, modest business for $3,000 and salts the remainder of his money away, against a rainy day.

The other puts his entire $10,000 inhabited by Eskimos, and as only one steamer lands at the place and that only once a year, the news it brings from the outside world is printed on sheet of paper with the hekograph. to a motor car, and thereby acquires such credit that he can have a house worth $50,000, and becomes a partner in a business paying $110,000 a year.

Assuming that both men have a wife and some daughters, which of them lives to kick himself?—Puck.

TOO FAMILIAR.

"Here," said the managing editor, holding up the proof of the musical critic's article, "you'll have to be more careful about the phrases you use in reporting these amateur affairs."

"What's the matter? I have tried to be absolutely fair to every one who was on the program."

"You say Miss Arabella Fattmore rendered the spinning song in a faultless manner."

"Yes. She did it very well."

"But don't you see that the use of the word render in this connection is very objectionable? Her father got rich in the lard business. If I permitted your article to go as you have written it he would take out his advertisement and stop his subscription to-morrow!"—Music World.

LIBELED.

"Are you the editor?"
"We are."

"My name's Smith—Godolphus H. Smith."

"Sit down, Mr. Smith."

"Not on your life! Your paper printed an article about me yesterday."

"Yes?"
"You called me a corruptor of public morals, a thief, a blackleg and a lot of other things."

"We did."
"Well, sir, I am here to tell you, by thunder! that my middle initial is H. and not J. If you can't spell my name right after this, let it alone!"—Trade Press List.

WHAT "FRA ELBERTUS" MEANS

They tell in Milwaukee of a sub scription book agent who once tried to sell a set of Shakespeare to a weal thy German. After talking for five minutes he was interrupted by his listener, who exclaimed impatiently:

"You want to sell me somethings no? Well, vat is it?"

"Shakespeare," said the agent.

"Don't want it!" I got Pabst's beer, and Schlitz's beer, and Blatz's beer.

I know nutting about dis Shake's beer und I don't want any."

This anecdote is repeated for the benefit of Elbert Hubbard ("Fra El bertus"), publisher of the Philistine of East Aurora, New York, in order that he may not be too much disheartened by the following story, the truth of which is vouched for by an advertising man of unimpeachable veracity.

"Going downtown one day on the street car," says the advertising man referred to, "I overheard the following conversation between two fellow pas sengers:

"This is pretty good," said one. List

A large crop of "howlers" has been gar way of expressing a historical fact to say that "a long time ago England was once a foreign country." The as sertion that "England has much coal beds; when it is finished we shall have to use our brains for fuel, and it will be scarce" is evidently the out come of earnest pondering by some budding economist. Some of the trans lations recorded are quite up to the usual standard; for instance Caerulea tripodes, "three-legged twins." As contributions to scientific knowledge, it is recorded that "air usually has no weight, but when placed in a baro pounds a square inch"; and that "if a small hole were bored in the top of a barometer tube the mercury would shoot up in a column thirty feet high."

SALE OF 1,000 HOGS-

President Clarence Lebus, of the Burley Tobacco Society, branch of the Society of Equity, announced here
Tuesday night that a sale of 1,000 hogsheads of burley tobacco was made
Tuesday to the American Tobacco Company. The price paid was 15c per pound, the price for which the burley growers have been contending since they organized the pool and with hold the crops from the so-called to bacco trust until it came to their terms. This is the first sale made to the American Tobacco Company since the fight began two years ago.

The sale was consummated at Win chester, where samples of the tobacco are stored in warehouses.

Lebus and many members of the district board of the Burley Society came here Tuesday night to urge the State Senate to pass the McChord to bacco bill, placing the buyers for man ufacture under the police power of the State. The bill has already passed the House.

ATTORNEYS

FOR CALEB POWERS

HOLD CONFERENCE AND WILL CALL ON GOV. WILLSON TO URGE CONSIDERATION OF CASE.

Mr. William Hays Green, brother-in-law of Caleb Powers, who is the prisoner's financial and political manager, was in Lexington Monday, in conference with attorneys for Powers, and requested that the matter of a pardon for the noted prisoner be taken up before Gov. Willson at the earliest possible moment.

It was shown that petitions containing the signatures of over 100,000 persons asking for the pardon have been received by the Special Citizens' Committee at Lexington, which has the pardon matter in charge. Gov. Willson has already indicated his purpose to give the Pardon Committee a hearing, and the friends of the prisoner are anxious for the hearing at an early date. In view of the decision of the Eleventh congressional district Republican Committee at Corbin Saturday fixing June 6 as the date for the primary, friends of Powers are anxious that he should be given an equal showing with Congressman D. C. Edwards in that district, and for this reason will urge immediate action by the Governor. Unless Powers is pardoned he will be forced to the necessity they say of making the race from his cell in the Georgetown jail, as it is practically certain that he will either be acquitted or granted bail at his next trial in June.

It is expected that Powers' attorneys will call on Gov. Willson in a few days and urge the consideration of his case.

FLIRTING

WITH SCHOOL GIRLS

PLACED UNDER BAN BY BILL INTRODUCED BY REPRESENTATIVE WOODFORD OF BOURBON COUNTY.

Flirting with girls in a boarding school is placed under the ban and is punishable by a fine of from $5 to $50 under a bill which was introduced in the House by Representative J. Hal Woodford. The bill is modeled along the lines of the bill which was passed by the Tennessee Legislature several years ago, and is very drastic. It makes it unlawful for any person to pass notes to a school girl while she is walking along the street with the other girls under the charge of a teacher. It also forbids men from loitering about the school and annoying the pupils or the teachers. The usual tactics of a college boy who is enamored of some pretty-faced girl in a boarding school, but who is not allowed to see her, are accurately described in the bill, and all of this is placed under the ban of the law, making it punishable.

Mr. Woodford said that the purpose of the bill was to protect the boarding schools from annoyance and to give the principal and the teacher's authority to stop the practice of passing notes and flirting with the boarders in a girls' school. He said it was especially for the protection of Millersburg Institute, at Millersburg, but its provisions apply to every county and city in the State, and if the bill should become a law it would be hard on the boys who are attending school in the same towns where girls' schools are conducted.

GONE TO EUROPE.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Camden, Jr., of Woodford county left Thursday for a trip to Europe. They will go first to Boston for their daughter, Miss Tevis, and from there to New York, from whence they will sail for Naples, spending Easter in Rome. Mr. Camden does not expect to remain abroad long, but his wife and daughter will, in all probability, extend their stay for the summer.

CIRCUIT COURT

CONVENES AT PARIS

AND JUDGE STOUT MAKES STRONG CHARGE TO GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE THREATS OF VIOLENCE.

At Paris Monday, the March term of the Bourbon Circuit Court began with Judge Robert L. Stout presiding. Commonwealth's Attorney Robert B. Franklin was on hand to conduct the criminal division of the court.

The grand jury was impaneled and after being sworn were given a forceful charge by Judge Stout. Referring to the tobacco situation Judge Stout said that through the recent disturbances in various counties, Kentucky had suffered more than in the one hundred or more years of her history. He said no man, however wealthy and prominent, can isolate himself and live independent of his fellow men, and that no county could live separate and away from her neighboring counties; that while Bourbon county had not suffered by unbridled lawlessness and disorder resulting in riot and arson, she was in a measure to share the responsibility of these favored communities.

He said that since arriving in Paris one officer of the court had informed him of threats of violence if he attempted to grow tobacco and admonished the grand jury that it was their duty to investigate, to bring men before them, whatever opinion they might hold regarding the situation, which in his opinion would have a salutary and wholesome effect. He deplored the extremes to which men would go and said that whether agents of the trust, independents or equity growers, all were amenable to the law and should be punished for its violation.

He told the grand jury that laws were provided to prevent the operations of trusts and that they should see to it that those laws were not trampled upon.

He further admonished the grand jury to inquire into the violation of the law regarding the sale of liquors gambling and the taking of game and fish. Judge Stout designated Vol. W. Ferguson as foreman of the grand jury, when the body retired and began its labors.

The grand jury is composed as follows: V. W. Ferguson, foreman; John T. Purdy, John S. Talbott, S. R. Butler, W. P. Ardery, Charles Stephens, A. B. Campbell, W. Harney, Ed. Clarke, Warren Ingels, J. H. Letton and Nat Collier.

FUNERAL

Of Prominent Versailles Woman Held in Chapel of State Cemetery Monday.

Mrs. Alice Ashmore Newman, daughter of the late William and Maria Jason Ashmore, of Versailles, died at the family residence, on Broadway, last Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. Though she was eighty years of age, and while an invalid most of her life, her death was unexpected. She was born and lived most of the time in Woodford county, except some time that the family resided in Shreveport, La., and after her marriage in 1863 to Mortimer J. Newman she lived in New Orleans until his death a few years later.

Mrs. Newman was a most lovable character, devout to family ties, prominent in church affairs. She is survived by her sisters, Mrs. Letitia Nutt, and brother, James Ashmore, of Sanibel, Island, Fla.; Miss Mary Ashmore, of Frankfort, and Miss Lucy

JUDGE DOWLING
Will be a Candidate to Represent Twentieth District in State Senate.

Judge William E. Dowling, of Lawrenceburg, Representative of Anderson county in the present session of the Legislature where he has taken exceptionally high rank as an orator, will be a candidate for the State Senate from the district composed of Anderson, Franklin and Mercer counties, now represented in the upper branch by Senator Jack Chin, of Mercer county. By the terms of the rotation it is Anderson county's time to furnish the next Senator.

Should he be chosen Senator, Judge Dowling will be the youngest member of the State Senate, being barely of the constitutional age for a seat in the body. He would be the second "baby" Senator from Anderson county, as his predecessor, Senator Lillard H. Carter, acquired that title on account of his youthfulness.

Miss Nora Brown, stenographer for Gov. Andrew E. Wilson, spent the weeks end at her home, in Louisville, but owing to the press of official business she had to do considerable work Tuesday afternoon in the Governor's Louisville office. While Miss Brown likes the work in the Executive building at Frankfort, she says she hates to give up the handsome offices in the Paul Jones building, in Louisville. Miss Brown returned here Monday afternoon.

The Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse Company, whose offices have been located in this city for the past ten years, will, on Saturday March 28, remove to Louisville, where the company has just completed a new office building near the Wilwood Distillery.

The action of the K. D. & W. Company is said to be due to the fact that Louisville is more central for their business, as there is such a large number of distilleries within a close radius of their new headquarters.
